

Introduction:

- You see someone talking on the phone. You can't hear or make out what they are saying or what the other person is saying to them but you notice they begin to cry, shout, waving their hands around.
- Although you don't know specifically what the conversation is about you can conclude that they are upset, sad, angry, etc.
- Now, they never told you that they were any of those things so how can you conclude that?
- Body Language

- D. Are we an active, functioning member of the Body, both in the collective worship and lives?

Conclusion

- We as God's creations communicate through language of different sorts.
- Our knowledge is limited by what is communicated
- Our Creator reads our hearts...are we showing God through our hearts and actions He is first in all things?
